

XMAS, 1917.

WAY'S,

SYDNEY,

1917.

SHOP EARLY AND AVOID THE RUSH.

EVERY DEPARTMENT IS FULL OF XMAS GIFTS.

SHOP NOW WHILE STORES ARE COMPLETE.

LADIES' CREPE KIMONOS

and

DRESSING GOWNS AND DRESSING JACKETS.

PLAIN CREPE KIMONOS—soft-edged facings, and belt attached.

PRICE 5/11.

PLAIN CREPE KIMONOS—

Facet White Crepe, and pretty embroidered.

PRICE 7/11.

Facet Self-coloured Crepe, 7/11, 14/6, 16/5.

SMART CREPE DRESSING GOWNS—

With yoke, pretty embroidered in soft

Fabric, White. PRICE 6/11.

Similar styles, with yoke effect, 8/11, 9/11.

PLAIN CREPE DRESSING GOWNS—

Scalloped at neck and down front, square neck, and embroidered in pretty contrast stitches.

PRICE 13/6.

LADIES' BATH GOWNS—

In coloured Satin Crepe, Coat shape, with collar, pockets, and belt attached.

PRICE 12/6.

LADIES' CREPE DRESSING JACKETS—

Assorted colours and Wool Crepe.

Coloured, Embroidered, 6/11, 9/11.

Plain Dress Jackets, faced White or

Satin, 2/11.

LATEST STYLES IN CHILDREN'S CREPE

KIMONOS IN STOCK.

TO-DAY,

MISSES AND

CHILDREN'S DRESSES.

THE PRETTIEST GARMENTS YOU EVER SAW,

AT

WAYS IN PITT-STREET.

LITTLE GIRL'S GOOD WASHING CREPE

FROCKS—1/2 Margerine blouse, full skirt, colour: Pink, Blue, Yellow.

Lengths: 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36.

PRICE 4/11.

GIRL'S GOOD WASHING ZEPHYR

TUTUS—In pale pink and blue, made in Magnes style, trimmed soft chenille.

Lengths: 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36.

PRICE 4/8.

GIRL'S SCHOOL FROCKS—

Made in good Washing Stripe Cambric,

white slightly raised, smart pink pockets,

Lengths: 27, 29, 31, 33, 35, 37, 39, 41.

PRICE 4/11.

GIRL'S COTTON TUTUS—

Made in Blue, Choc, Zephyr, loose belt,

new eve pockets, finished white muslin

Lengths: 27, 29, 31, 33, 35, 37, 39, 41.

PRICE 4/11.

GIRL'S SMART Middy FROCKS—

Made in White, Cotton, full placket, long sleeves, with sailor collar, and sailor belt.

Lengths: 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46.

PRICE 13/6.

GIRL'S WHITE COTTON VOILE FROCKS—

Made with dainty sailor neck, bodice skirt with pink ticks and insertion, finished at waist pale shades soft velvet.

Lengths: 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46.

PRICE 13/6.

A DAINTY DESIGNED FROCK—

For Girl in White, Cotton, full skirt, colour: Blue, Choc, Zephyr, loose belt, sailor insertion to match; sailor collar and cuffs, edge lace sailor collar, soft

Lengths: 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46.

PRICE 13/6.

GIRL'S WHITE JAPANESE SILK AMERICAN

TUTU—Daintily embroidered, threaded pale shades

Lengths: 16, 18, 20, 22 inches.

PRICE 10/6.

CHILD'S SMART MOTOR OR WALKING

SUIT—Made in good quality Assam Silk, sailor collar, pocket and cuffs daintily embroidered,

Lengths: 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26 inches.

PRICE 10/6.

WAY'S IN PITT-STREET.

BRING THE YOUNGSTERS

TO

TOYLAND

TO-DAY,

AND YOU COME WITH THEM.

SUPPLY STORES ARE READY

WITH HATS TO GO

HOLIDAYING.

"A woman's crowning glory is her hat."

And then wants a hat

to cover it.

But it is true that the success of a frock depends largely upon the hat that is faced with the choice of every woman to face with the choice of every woman

decked in the choice of every woman

DRESS, FASHION, ETC.
YOU ALWAYS PAY LESS AT McDOWELLS.
XMAS & HOLIDAY SPECIALS

McDOWELLS
BIG NEW STORE.

ESPECIAL PURCHASE OF GAGE HATS
ESPECIAL PURCHASE OF GAGE HATS
ESPECIAL PURCHASE OF GAGE HATS

XMAS TIME HOLIDAY MAKERS are splendidly catered for at McDowell's to-day, and a most delightful inspiration.

WE PARTIALLY draw the attention of those who are happy to McDowell's

SPECIAL JOB PURCHASE OF
SMART "GAGE" HATS

now being displayed in our large Arcade Windows and Millinery Halls. The collection is the largest and most complete from these famous makers of fashion hats.

THESE EFFECTS are here in superb variety in FINE PIGAL, TAFFETA, LISBANE, SATIN, and other materials. Many of these hats have been 21s, but having bought them at a discount we offer them at the

HOLIDAY PRICES OF
5/11 AND 7/11.

TRIAL GIFT SUGGESTIONS, practical in design and reasonably priced are detailed below.

GIFT IDEAS IN NECKWEAR.

GIFT IDEAS IN NECKWEAR.

WE MAKE CLOTHES.

In a variety of exquisite designs in Peter Pan and other styles.

WEAR COLLARS, 2/11, 4/11, 6/11, 8/11 each.

WEAR TIE, 1/11 each.

CHILDREN'S ORGANIC CLOTHES

in a variety of designs various sizes

1/11, 2/11, 3/11, 4/11.

FOR THE CHILDREN.

WE MAKE A WHITE PANAMA, Unfinished, in a variety of designs for children of 2 to 6 years.

WEAR HATS, 1/11 to 2/11.

WEAR PINTOES, AND POWERS.

WEAR COAT.

A 100% QUALITY AUSTRALIAN MADE

A 100% QUALITY AUSTRALIAN MADE

1/11, 2/11, 3/11, 4/11, 6/11, 8/11, 10/11, 12/11, 14/11.

WEAR FAMOUS MANUFACTURES - YARD

LEAVES, LEAVES, LEAVES, AND GAFFET, COTTON, all in a variety of designs and sizes.

PIES TO MITTENS.

MARRIAGES.

BYRNE-RUSSELL.—November 1, D. J. Byrne, of Waverley, to Mabel J. Russell, of West Maitland.

HEDGARTH-HASKELL.—December 17, at Regent's Park, Waverley, N.S.W., Charles Shepard to Mrs. Helen, widow of the late Frank Theodore Haskell, of Paddington, Sydney, and son of the late Frank and Matthew Nugent, Esq., of Camberwell, England.

DEATHS.

ALMAN.—December 15, at North Sydney, John Barnes, third son of the late John Alman, formerly of that place.

ASPINALL.—December 17, 1917, at George-street, Parramatta, Sarah, dearly beloved wife of the late John Aspinall, who died in 1915.

BLACK.—December 16, 1917, Alan Albert Hector, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel E. Black, of Petersham, at Manly Cottage Hospital, aged 15 months.

BROWN.—December 16, 1917, at his residence, St. Kilda, The Avenue, Rose Bay, John Willoughby Brown, aged 65 years. At rest. Home papers please.

BROWN.—December 17, at Gladyside, John Henry Bassett, aged 62.

BULLOCK.—December 17, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. M. B. Bullock, Wrenwood, Stephen's Reach, Margaret, widow of William Bullock, late of Golgotha, aged 87.

CLANT.—December 17, 1917, at her residence, Cheltenham, The Avenue, Rose Bay, John Willoughby Brown, aged 65 years. At rest. Home papers please.

DE MINTHE.—December 15, 1917, at his residence, Greenwich Point, Andre Contreil De Mintage, his beloved son.

EVANS.—Late of St. Vincent's Hospital, Thomas Edward Evans, late of Sydney-street, Darlinghurst, and formerly of Rockhampton, Queensland, aged 45 years.

GEARY.—December 15, 1917, at her residence, 8 Moore-street, Petersham, Johanna Geary, aged 65 years.

HALL.—December 17 (am. 1917), at Sydney, Samuel, beloved husband of Emily Hall, of 100 Pitt-street, Pitt-street, Liverpool, aged 61.

HUIK.—Ada May (Nancy), wife of John Z. Huik, of Manly, formerly of Buckingham station, Narrabeen, aged 20 years.

HUIK.—Margaret Gordon, only surviving daughter of the late James Huik, C.E., Victoria, aged 46 years (accidentally killed).

JOHNSON.—John Johnson, M.C., at his residence, Esplanade, 30 Manly-street, Rose Bay, Annie, the only daughter, wife of Frank Pearson, aged 21. In service with the Royal Flying Corps, and serving her present peace.

KELLY.—December 15, 1917, at Royal Flying Corps Hospital, Edgecliff, beloved eldest son of Alan and Freda Prokes, Brooklyn, Hawkesbury River.

TAYLOR.—December 17, at Sydney, Clara Lily, 2nd daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Moody.

WALSH.—December 17, at his residence, Walsall, West-midlands, England, Michael John Walsh, in his 80th year.

WHITING.—December 15, 1917, at his son's residence, Manly, Parramatta, William George Whiting, in his 80th year.

ROLL OF HONOUR.

CHANNING.—Killed in action about November 29, 1917, Corporal A. J. (John) Channing, inserted by his loving sister, Mrs. A. E. O'Brien, Marion.

CUMMING.—Killed in action in France, March 31, 1917, Private Keith Cumming, in his 17th year, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cumming, of Vine-street, Woolstone.

DEAN.—Died of wounds, December 19, Lieutenant J. A. (John) Dean, late of Croydon and Dulwich, and formerly of Queen's Hospital in peace.

LAW.—Killed in action in France, November 20, 1917, Lieutenant W. Law, inserted by his friend, Mrs. Law.

LONG.—Corporal Mark Anthony Long, killed in action in France, November 3, 1917. The best lad in a company he had, inserted by Private J. J. Crowley (on active service).

LONG.—Corp. Mark Anthony Long, killed in action in France, November 3, 1917. The best lad in a company he had, inserted by Private J. J. Crowley (on active service).

MCNAUL.—Killed in action in France, December 1, 1917, Private T. C. Smith, 20 Young-street, Arncliffe, aged 20 years. Inserted by his wife, H. C. Smith, inserted by his loving father, mother, sister, and brothers.

EMOTT.—Killed in action in France, October 4, 1917, Private J. D. Emott, 2nd Regt. Inf. Div., son of Mr. and Mrs. Emott, aged 19 years and 8 months. The supreme sacrifice.

MEMORIAL.

AMOR.—In loving memory of our dear little daughter, Helen, who departed this life December 12, 1916, aged 3 years.

For Jesus in His bosom we rest.

Presented by his loving parents, Violet and Will.

AMOS.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Elsie Verena Amos, who passed away December 19, 1916. Sweetly and safely now she rests. Inserted by her loving parents, Violet and Will.

DOUGLASS.—Late Sergeant J. M. (Jack) Douglass, third son of W. Douglass, J.P., Burleigh, died 1917, December 19, 1916, aged 20 years. Inserted by his brother-in-law, Mrs. and Mr. C. Clark, Gold Coast.

GATES.—In ever loving memory of my dear wife before her death, I now lay her to rest. This life December 18, 1917, inserted by his loving wife, Elsie.

GATES.—In ever loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Gates, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 85 years. Inserted by his loving wife, Elsie.

GATES.—In ever loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Gates, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 85 years. Inserted by his loving wife, Elsie.

GOODHORN.—In loving memory of our dear husband, John Goodhorn, who passed away December 18, 1916, aged 60 years. Inserted by his wife, Mrs. Goodhorn.

HOLINGWORTH.—In loving memory of James Holingworth, who died December 17, 1916. He is at rest in the loving arms of his wife, brother, and sister, R. and L. Holingworth.

HOPKIN.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

For amidst the changing scenes of life,

Presented by his loving parents, mother, and father, Frank (an active service), Laurie, Alli, and Jim.

HUTTON.—In loving memory of our dear mother, who departed this life December 18, 1916, inserted by her loving son, Harry, and grand-daughter Hazel.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Gates, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 85 years. Inserted by his loving wife, Elsie.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Gates, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 85 years. Inserted by his loving wife, Elsie.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

Presented by his loving parents, mother, and father, Frank (an active service), Laurie, Alli, and Jim.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life December 18, 1917, aged 17 years and 8 months. May the wings of heaven softly now lay him to rest.

MCNAUL.—In loving memory of our dear son and our dear daughter, Billie Maguire, who departed this life

RUSSIA.

ARMISTICE TILL JAN. 14.

TREATY SIGNED.

(Admiralty—per Wireless Press)

LONDON, Dec. 16. A German official message on Sunday stated: An armistice was signed at Brest-Litovsk yesterday, which begins on Monday, December 17, and ends on January 14. Unless a week's notice is given, it will commence automatically. It extends to all land, air, and naval forces of the common fronts.

Peace negotiations will begin immediately.

A Russian official message states that Krylenko has issued a proclamation announcing that the armistice treaty has been signed. It is proposed to cease all military operations until the full text of armistice has been received.

GENERAL ALLENBY.

General Sir Edmund Allenby, K.C.B. has been created a Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George.

THE POPE'S GRATIFICATION.

The "New York World" asked the Pope for his comment on the capture of Jerusalem. The Pope replied: "I am most happy to see the occupation of the place, where the Prince of Peace was born, lived, and died, may be the harbinger of that peace which is desired by all peoples."

ENTRY TO HOLY CITY.

Mr. Mason, official correspondent, sends a vivid description of General Allenby's entry to Jerusalem, which thus liberated the Holy City for Christians and Moslems alike for the first time.

Jerusalem was captured unopposed. Though Allenby's army was thundering from the Mount of Olives, General Allenby put the sanctity of cities before every consideration, and only approached Jerusalem when the British force forced the Turks to retreat.

The British, Australian, and New Zealand troops had been overlooking Jerusalem from the distant hills for a fortnight before.

The Bolsheviks report that Germany has agreed not to transfer the army to the West front.

According to the Bolsheviks, General Kaledin has been arrested; also the Bolsheviks have captured Rostoff, Tiflis, and some other towns.

SPIRIT OF CONQUEST.

An Amsterdam report says Herr Stresemann, the National Liberal leader, in a speech in Berlin, referring to negotiations with Russia, said that Germany should consider a military alliance with Russia.

There could be no question of Russia's territorial integrity. The old Russia had gone, and Germany was entitled to harvest the reward of her conquests.

THE EX-CZAR.

The Petrograd correspondent of the "Daily Chronicle" says the Czar's reported escape is probably the Bolshevik Government has despatched 500 sailors to Cheljabinsk, Siberia, for the purpose of preventing the Czar joining General Dutloff, commanding the anti-Bolshevik troops at Orenburg.

GERMANY AND PEACE.

LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH. An Amsterdam message states that the "Colombia Gazette" says Mr. Lloyd George has made a speech in which he has made. He will not have peace by an understanding such as Lord Lansdowne, English Liberal, and the Russians are trying to realize. The Germans will answer his insistence more sharply and clearly than they have done before.

The "Colombia Gazette" adds: The speech to have been dictated by anxiety and fear.

The "People's Gazette" declares the speech is that of a man suffering from mad rage.

STARTLING ADMISSIONS.

The "New York Times" Hague correspondent says the Vichy opinion of Prince Max of Baden, one of Germany's ablest democratic statesmen, and Professor von Wrangel, a noted Prussian, have created a sensation in Paris. General Altenby received him outside Jaffa Gate, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the outskirts, the Turks hating stalwartly meeting bandit with bayonet. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city debouched from a defile, and met with strong machine-guns fire from the Mount of Olives, but the Londoners carried the ridge with a superb bayonet charge and occupied ground 3000 yards north of the city walls. Meanwhile, Welsh troops drove the Turks out of the city and were welcomed by the public buildings outside the Holy City, but no troops entered the walls on December 9. The Turks were driven further northward and eastward during the 16th, when General Allenby made his unforgettable entry at noon.

The Jaffa road was crowded with people, hastening to greet the conquering General Armenians and Greeks, besides Moslems. All were their best robes. From flat-roofed roofs and balconies came shouts of welcome, where a guard of honour was formed of men who had done their full share of the campaign. There were 110 English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish troops drawn up on the

height of the gate. Opposite them 500 men of the Italian, the Australian, and the New Zealand contingents, with bayonets fixed, were drawn up, and were soon in the ranks. The Londoners had to be sent to the city

UNDER STRENGTH. WHAT MR. RAE WOULD DO.

GENERAL BIRDWOOD'S REPORT.

MELBOURNE, Monday.
Further striking evidence of the street necessity for reinforcements is provided in a letter from General Birdwood (see the Editor (Senator Pearce) from General Birdwood, Writing from the Anzac Corps, B.E.F., France, on October 16, General Birdwood said:—

"I hope to be sending you few days to let you see exactly how the reinforcement situation now stands, for as you will realise Major-General McCay is in a great state of mind foreseeing his complete inability to bring our divisions up to strength in anything like the near future. Casualties, too, are now not confined almost entirely to the infantry. They used to be. I am sorry to say we have had heavy losses in all our brigade artillery, and I am unable to keep even up to strength at present."

General Birdwood's letter was written nine weeks ago, long before the present referendum was decided upon.

A.N.A. APPEAL.

EMPIRE IN DIRE PERIL.

MELBOURNE, Monday.
The chief president of the Australian Nationalists' Association (Mr. Davine), in the course of an appeal to his fellow Australians, stated:—

"At this momentous period in the Empire's history, the people of Australia are asked to see that the five divisions of Australian soldiers who have done such gallant work in France are kept up to their full fighting strength by reinforcements. Since the foundation of Australia the Empire has never been in such dire peril. Surely no patriotic Australian, who realises the position that our boys are fighting in France, not only for freedom and democracy against Prussian militarism, but for the very existence of Australia as a free country, can refuse the appeal for the reinforcements of our Australian forces at the front."

"We should show the world that Australia does not want to quit, but will use all her resources in men and material wealth to see this war through to a glorious finish."

APPEAL TO RIFLEMEN.

To the Riflemen of N.S.W.
Comrades.—

"On Thursday next we will be called upon to record our vote as to whether we will stand by our mates at the front or desert them, and from my knowledge of you I have no doubt that you will be true to the best traditions of the Australian riflemen."

"Thousands of our comrades are taking part in the greatest competition the world has ever known, and doing their utmost to prevent the German Emperor from winning the plumb of the prizes—Australia—vote 'Yes' to assist them."

"Many of your mates have made the supreme sacrifice, many more are still manfully fighting for our freedom, but they want 'Yes', and want it badly; you will not, I feel sure, neglect them in their hour of need, therefore

NOTE 'YES'.

E. J. BROWN,
Chairman National Rifle Association of New South Wales.

SOLDIERS' VOTES.

The right to vote at the referendum has been extended to all members and ex-members of the forces who are not enrolled as electors, but who are eligible to be so enrolled, or who would be so eligible if they were of the age of 21 years.

Returned members of the forces who are not enrolled as electors may vote at any polling place upon making and signing the prescribed declaration before the presiding officer.

Members of the forces who have not yet served outside Australia and who are not enrolled as electors, may vote only at polling places in the military camps in which they are being trained.

Those members of the forces who are enrolled as electors may vote only in respect of their enrolment, in the same manner as other electors.

NEED FOR MEN.
PRIME MINISTER'S APPEAL.

MELBOURNE, Monday.
"Those leading the 'Yes' cause," said the Prime Minister (Mr. Hughes), "before leaving for New South Wales to-day, 'in the face of the almost unanimous support of our men, we are asking the men to vote for us.' Their efforts to persuade the people that reinforcements are necessary, now say that Australia should send more men, not less, to the front. The electors had to decide whether Australia was to reinforce her army to leave it unprepared; whether it was safe, in the present temper of Europe, for Australia to turn her back on the Allies."

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Ryan, who had put out to-morrow, Australia would still live on, but Australia could not continue to exist unless the people who answer to the question 'Are we to be sent to the front?' were all sent to the front."

Mr. Hughes said: "The 'Yes' cause is the great trouble. If no other bushel of wheat is produced it will take two years to get the ships that took to Britain a 'scab.' Now they have the audacity to say, 'If we are to be sent to the front, we must be sent to the front.' The Government's policy has been, and is to help the Allies to win the war, not to let them win the war."

The problem for the electors is not Hughes' Ryan," said Mr. Kelly, "but Allied solidarity against enemy intrusion."

MR. COOK PUTS SOME QUESTIONS.

Mr. Arthur Rae complains, "said the Minister for the Navy (Mr. Cook) yesterday, 'that the present reinforcements is provided in a letter from General Birdwood (see the Editor (Senator Pearce) from General Birdwood, Writing from the Anzac Corps, B.E.F., France, on October 16, General Birdwood said:—

"I hope to be sending you few days to let you see exactly how the reinforcement situation now stands, for as you will realise Major-General McCay is in a great state of mind foreseeing his complete inability to bring our divisions up to strength in anything like the near future. Casualties, too, are now not confined almost entirely to the infantry. They used to be. I am sorry to say we have had heavy losses in all our brigade artillery, and I am unable to keep even up to strength at present."

General Birdwood's letter was written nine weeks ago, long before the present referendum was decided upon.

"The position that is clear enough. Mr. Rae would rather withdraw divisions than intrude upon them."

"Continuation of voluntarism and reduction of our fighting force on the one hand, or reinforcements and increases in the other hand."

"Mr. Rae admits the former alternative is the best policy, but the latter is better."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to be reduced."

"The number of divisions in the army is to

